NEARLY $11,000

Raised For The College.

Success Has Crowned The Movement to Erect K. N. C. Building This Year.

It is settled.

The Kentucky Normal College will erect a large building this season.

Work will start within thirty days.

When the citizens of Louisa gathered at the Court House last Tuesday evening in a meeting that had been adjourned from the previous Tuesday night, the soliciting committee announced that $9,400.00 had been subscribed to the college building proposition. $1,000 of this amount was subscribed conditionally. When the meeting closed the subscription list footed up $10,450. Since that time there has been added $350 and the good work still goes on. It is the desire of every good and loyal citizen to see a $15,000 building erected this summer, ready for use this fall. It can be done, as there is already on the ground and paid for, a large quantity of brick.

When the subscription reached $10,000 the great question of whether or not the building would be erected this year was settled, as the subscriptions were taken upon condition that this amount be secured.

The meeting Tuesday night was a very live and interesting affair. Much enthusiasm was shown. It was expected that the subscriptions would be small upon this occasion, as the canvass of the town had procured about all the large amounts that were available.

The students of the college were out in large numbers, many of them bearing flags. Prof. McClure was present with a band of his pupils, and after an opening prayer by Rev. Elzer, an appropriate song was rendered by them. Mrs. Josephine Rice was organist and Rev. Elzer and Miss Ella Hartman played cornets. The chairman, M. S. Burns, announced the status of the subscription list and asked for talks from all who would say anything on the subject of the college.

Hon. G. W. Castle was called upon for an address and responded in a very creditable manner, winning much applause and arousing great enthusiasm. He was followed by G. L. Miller, C. J. Wilson, Judge T. S. Thompson, Rev. O. F. Williams, Prof. J. B. McClure, Theo. Luther and others, all of whom added good things to the love feast.

An interesting feature of the occasion was a request made of a number of students to tell why the Kentucky Normal College is a success and why they are attending it.

All responded with impromptu talks. The testimony they gave was very convincing and satisfactory to the Louisa people and must certainly have been very gratifying to the Faculty of the College. The young men who spoke were Mr. Vanhoush, of Johnson county, Mr. Howard, of Magoffin, Mr. Ratcliff, of Pike, Mr. Davis, of Boyd, Mr. Beck, of Virginia, and Fred Vinson, of Louisa.

The work of taking subscriptions was then taken up, with the result as announced above.

The exercises were interspersed with good music under Prof. McClure's direction.

Prof. Byington and Kennison made brief addresses expressing their gratitude and appreciation and promising to do the best work of their lives in making this school a success.

The chair then announced that on next Monday evening a meeting of the subscribers will be held at the Court House to select the necessary committees for carrying the work into effect.

It is the intention to let contracts and start actual work on the building at the earliest possible time.

The building will probably be located directly at the head of Main cross street, where it will show to advantage from our principal thoroughfare.

The publication of the list of subscribers will be deferred until all who will subscribe may have a chance to do so.

This is the greatest movement ever started in Louisa and its success will mean more to our future than anything that is within our reach. The College is not an uncertain experiment. It is an established success. The Faculty is equal to any that can be found anywhere and they have a reputation extending throughout the mountains of Eastern Kentucky and West Virginia. Students will flock here when we have the necessary facilities to accommodate them, and these we will have by next fall.

Judge W. O. B. Ratcliff died suddenly at his home in Pikeville Saturday morning. He had not been in good health for some time, but his death was not expected. He was one of the ablest and most progressive citizens in the county, and as County Judge did more for the improvement of roads and bridges than any other official the county ever had. He will be greatly missed. His sister, Mrs. John Hager, was at Hot Springs and received a telegram at noon on Saturday. She left at one o'clock and reached Pikeville at 8:30 Sunday evening. Theo. Coates, a brother-in-law, arrived from Richmond, Va., on the same train.

DEATH

Visited Four Families in This Locality Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Geo. W. McCarty died at her home in lower Louisa last Saturday, of consumption. She was in her 46th year. A husband and five children are left, the youngest children being twins, nearly four years of age. Mr. McCarty is a C. & O. section foreman who moved here a few years ago from Bath county. The body of his wife was taken to Owingsville for burial.

Mrs. McCarty was taken into the church recently by Rev. O. F. Williams. She was a good wife and mother and her death was the greatest loss that could have come to them in this life.

James A. Davis passed away at an early hour on Friday, March 13th, at the age of 74 years. He had been confined to his room for several weeks and his death was not unexpected.

He was a veteran of the Civil War, having been a member of the 5th Virginia. For many years after the war he was one of the best known river men in this section.

A few weeks ago he was baptized and taken into the Baptist Church. The interment took place on Saturday afternoon in the family burial grounds across on the Point. Rev. L. M. Copley conducted the services.

Fallsburg.

The protracted meeting held at this place by Rev. Sam C. Elzer, of Louisa, closed last week with good results, there being 40 conversions and several joined the church and were baptized. We are glad to say that Bro. Elzer has done our town a great favor by coming out here and preaching to our people, as there hadn't been a series of meetings held by the Methodist church for 6 years and it was badly in need of a revival. We are inclined to believe that we are going to have a church built, as there has been some preparations made already and we hope to make a success of it.

Our Sunday school which had closed for the winter, was reorganized last Sunday with good attendance.

We have prayer meeting every Sunday night, conducted by young converts mostly. J. W. Austin was appointed leader.

Mrs. Elzer and baby were here during the meeting and are cordially invited to come again.

Miss Flora Jones, of Louisa, was the organist here during the revival and we are glad to say she is in our town again calling on friends and organizing a music class.

Oscar Stewart and family of West Virginia, are visiting relatives at this place.

Born, to the wife of J. B. Heabert, a big boy. Hurrah for Buckles. Miss Lillie Moore, of Long Branch is very low with consumption.

Mrs. H. C. Austin is very sick. Mr. Austin was glad to have his sister, Mrs. Thomas, of Virginia, to visit him. It having been 47 years since they last met. Her son, Geo. Thomas, accompanied her and stayed a few days. Mrs. Thomas will stay a few weeks or until Mrs. Austin gets better.

ARRESTED.

C. P. Braisington Jailed Upon A Charge Of Burglary.

C. P. Braisington was arrested at the home of King Dawson, near Fort Gay, last Sunday by Marshal F. D. Marcum of this place, upon a charge of having broken into the Louisa Furniture Company's Store, an account of which we published last week. Braisington was at the dinner table when arrested. After a short conversation with a young woman friend who was with him, he accompanied the officer to Louisa and was taken before Judge Thompson. His bond was fixed at $2000, in default of which he went to jail. Thursday at three o'clock was agreed upon as the time for his examining trial.

It is claimed that he pawned some of the missing revolvers in Huntington. One of these has been recovered.

Braisington denies guilt and has wired his brother, Dr. S. F. Braisington, of Camden, N. C., to come to his rescue. The latter was here recently and paid up some debts contracted by C. P.

This man came to Louisa about a year ago and bought a Coca Cola plant, which he operated through last season. He finally became so involved in debt that the plant was closed. He is said to have come from an excellent family.

Thursday afternoon Braisington waived examination and the bond was reduced to $500, which he says he can give.

Everybody invited.

Hon. Garfield Moore.

The Hon. Garfield Moore, of the 5th Legislative district composed of the counties of Boyd and Lawrence, has been a very busy man since he arrived in Frankfort, looking after the interests of his constituents. In the first place he secured for Tim Fields, of Boyd county, a position on the Governor's staff, and through him Judge Ginn, of Boyd county, was appointed County Judge to succeed Judge Davis, he having resigned owing to failing health. Also, through and by the influence of the Hon. Mr. Moore, Mr. Clyde L. Miller, of Lawrence county, secured his appointment as Revenue Agent. For such a representative of the Commonwealth the people of Boyd and Lawrence should feel proud, for they can certainly boast of their member having received as much or more recognition at the hands of the appointees as any one man in the General Assembly of the session of 1908. Dr. S. L. Givan. Member of the 27th District.

MURDER

Of A Man 79 Years Old.

Alexander Trent Killed at Williamson by a Policeman.

Alexander Trent, age 79, was shot at Williamson, W. Va., Monday evening by Oats Riley, a policeman, and died from the effects of the wound on Wednesday at noon. Mr. Trent lived on a farm near Fort Gay, about three miles from Louisa.

The particulars as we have heard them are as follows:

Mr. Trent, who was somewhat addicted to the use of liquor, was reported to the policeman to be in a boisterous mood on the second floor of the hotel. Riley went up the stairs and saw Trent near the head of the stairway. While yet some distance away, he said to Trent, "What are you going to do with that knife in your hand?" The fatal shot followed almost immediately. It is said Mr. Trent was taken to a hospital where an operation was performed in the hope of saving his life. He rallied and it was thought he had a chance to recover, but death came to him at the time stated above.

Riley was placed in jail and it is said that the sentiment is so strong against him that a guard has been kept at the prison ever since to protect him from mob violence. Riley is reported to be a constant drinker, and it is supposed that a drunken condition accounts for the terrible crime. Relatives of the dead man stated that Riley arrested Mr. Trent once before, some time ago, and took $400 of his money; also that he had never given any of it back, and that bad feeling existed between them because of this fact.

Mr. Trent was a well-to-do citizen, being worth a considerable amount of money. He owned two or three farms and had several thousand dollars in cash. He formerly lived in Logan and had been Assessor for that county. Eli Trent, who lives near Fort Gay, is a brother of Alex.

Riley was about 35 years of age and has been on the police force for several years. The crime he must answer for is all the more horrible because of the extreme age of his victim.

A Scripture Biography.

Once, while I lived in the City of Destruction which Balaam describes, there came to me John 14:26, who troubled me greatly because he 16:8-11. At first I 11:10, because I 20:9. Then came voices saying 11:27; 12:35, 46; 17:17. Then I joined the noble band described in Acts 17:11. Here I saw a vision of 14:3 and Rev. 21, and found there not only Rev. 23:1-5, but John 14:27, and 15:11, and 15:12, and 15:15. And my soul longed for these things. Then I said: Where is the path? And a voice answered 14:6; and I said: Who shall guide me? And the voice said 16:13. Then I said: I am not fit to go there. And the voice said: 3:3, and 3:5, and 15:3. And I said: What do they do there? And the voice said: 13:14, 15; 14:15; 15:12; 17:18, 21. And I said: Lord, how shall I do these things? And the voice replied: 15:4, 7. Then the voice asked me: 21:16 (f. c) and I replied: 20:28 and 21:16 (m. c.).

The Source of Life.

In Paleolithic times, then, it was the earth itself, not the sun, to which plant and animal primarily stood beholden for existence. This gives us a most instructive glimpse into one planetologic process. To the planet's own internal heat is due the chief fostering of the beginnings of life upon its surface. Thus a planet is capable of at least beginning to develop organisms without more than a modicum of help from the central sun. We talk of the sun as the source of life; and so it is to-day in the sense of being its sustainer; but the real source was the earth itself, which also raised it through its babyhood.—From Prof. Lowell's "The Evolution of Life," in Century.

Observant.

Stanley, aged four, is one of a large family. Besides numerous sisters and brothers, there are aunts and uncles galore and many cousins. The only very young people, however, are those in his immediate household.

At Thanksgiving dinner Stanley gazed solemnly around the table for a while, and then announced, oracularly:

"My mother and the cat seem to be the only people in this whole family that have any children!"—Harper's.

Rubber stamps are a great convenience for certain purposes. They are not suitable for printing your letter heads and envelopes. Neatly printed stationery looks business like and is cheaper, all things considered, than buying blank stock and stamping it yourself.

However, we furnish rubber stamps at 1 cent for a single line 3 inches or less in length. 25 cents for 3 lines 3 inches or less.

THE HONEYMOON.

Few will admit that they need any advice in the honeymoon; fewer still will take it. Most young people think "Well, it is hard that we may not be left to ourselves at such a season!" And yet, perhaps, if we took the experience of the many on this subject, they would admit that the honeymoon has been the time of all others when they have been the least able to help themselves.

Is it too much to say that during those two months the happiness or the misery of two young lives is very nearly settled. Well, perhaps, that is too much to say, for errors and misconceptions may be formed or broken after the honeymoon, in the course of years. But still much is often decided, we will not say in the first few months, but even in the first few days. Little things are decided in little ways, and neither understands that "It is the little rift in the lover's love" that has begun to show even on the first day.

Patience on both sides is needed—but especially on the man's side, for he is the stronger vessel, and knows life. At the bottom of her heart his young wife wants to please him; but she cannot bear him out of her sight—he must account for every moment. His ways are incomprehensible. Why does he want to go out for an hour after dinner for a stroll? Why does he prefer spending an hour or two down stairs with an old friend at night to going up into the drawing room? Why does he want to see the papers at the club instead of going out, after a hard day in the city, for a little shopping? She has not learned that a man's interests are and must be various.

We hear a good deal about incompatibility of temper—we believe very little in it. The sexes are almost infinitely plastic. People quarrel more from error of judgment than from any other cause. You can live with anybody if you understand him, and you can manage anybody if you know him, providing you mean well, have a decent heart, and are willing to be patient and make some sacrifices for love.

Newly-married women are, no doubt, very trying sometimes to their husbands; but it is the fault more of their social training and the want of education than anything else. Men should remember how much a girl has to learn, and how much, alas, she has to unlearn, when they first begin the married life. We venture to say that if all newly married couples were to make a contract not to quarrel for six months they would seldom have any very serious quarrels in after life.

You can get into the habit of living peacefully and happily, and that habit is quite as difficult to break as any habit we know of. Let there be no long partings; let there be no long, careless, indifferent fits. If little storms arise—let them be brief. Don't let us sleep over it, and wake up next morning and cough our brains to remember who nagged last. This kind of thing is mean, it is ungenerous and it is silly.

WHAT HAS HE MADE?

We note that the metropolitan papers report that one of our wealthy men so well managed his fortune of twenty million as to double it in three years. Suppose he has, what then? What has he made by thus increasing his wealth, except increased worryment to keep the run of his increased wealth? With his increased wealth he eats no more quail and turkey than he did when worth ten millions. He dresses no better and has a thousand times less fun. We hear him on the sleep and have no law suits with tenants and trespassers. Robbers lay for him every time he goes out of doors after dark. They don't think of us. The man with sixty millions of dollars has sixty millions of troubles. To keep the run of his rents, bonds and real estate keeps him at hard work fourteen hours a day and yet he only gets three square meals a day, which is just what we obtain without any millions, any tenants, and only have to work eight hours a day to credit up all who pay their subscriptions.

If men's happiness increased with their money, everybody should be justified in worshipping the golden calf. The happiness increases with their earnings up to a certain point—the point necessary to secure for them the comforts of life, say $2,000 a year. All beyond this is superfluous. It is productive of no good whatever. The richer the man the greater is the probability that his sons will live on billiards and die in the indolent system. With contentment and $2,000 a year a man may be as happy as a prince. Without contentment you will be miserable, even if your wealth equals that of Morgan or Carnegie.

A GOOD DAUGHTER.

There are other ministers of love more conspicuous than she, but none in which a gentler, lovelier spirit dwells, and none to which the heart's warm requirals more joyfully respond. She is the steady light of her father's home. Her ideal is indissolubly connected with that of his fireside. She is his morning sunlight and his evening star. The grace, vivacity and tenderness of her sex have their place in the mighty sway which she holds over his spirit. She is the pride and ornament of his hospitality, and the gentle nurse of his sickness. Fortunately is the home in which is a good daughter.

ULYSSES.

On March the second Mrs. Katie Lyons, wife of Andrew Lyons, died very suddenly and unexpectedly to everyone. While she never claimed to feel well, she was unusually cheerful that day and had gone to visit her sister, Mrs. Wm. Pack, in the forenoon having returned home in the evening.

Mrs. Telle Borders, a neighbor was calling and they were sitting and talking pleasantly when Mrs. Lyons suddenly exclaimed, "my head is almost bursting" and immediately fell forward and expired a few minutes later. She was a good woman and will be greatly missed. She leaves a husband and one son and two grown daughters.

There has been several weddings at this place since I have seen a letter in the NEWS, and another wedding is expected soon.

J. A. Bensley's infant child died since my last letter.

Sam Castle, Wm. Charles and Hose Pack are all pleased because of the arrival of a fine boy at each of their homes.

Joe Allen and Miss Lizzie Preston both of Lowmansville, were married at the home of the bride on last Friday and on last Monday Mr. and Mrs. Allen started for Utah where they will make their future home.

They were accompanied by Wallace Brown and family who will also locate in Utah. They are among the best citizens and we regret to have them leave us. Frank Allen says that he is going to move there in the near future, but it is hoped that he will decline the idea and stay with us. He and his wife would be much missed here.

Advice of Authority Also a Simple Prescription.

Now is the time when the doctor gets busy, and the patent medicine manufacturers reap the harvest, unless great care is taken to dress warmly and keep the feet dry. This is the advice of an old eminent authority, who says that Rheumatism and Kidney trouble weather is here and also tells what to do in case of an attack.

Get from any good prescription plus many one-half ounce Fluid Extract Foundation, one ounce Compound Karger, three ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Mix by shaking in a bottle and take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime.

Just try this simple home-made mixture at the first sign of Rheumatism, or if your back aches or you feel that the kidneys are not acting just right. This is said to be a splendid kidney regulator and almost certain remedy for all forms of Rheumatism, which is caused by uric acid in the blood, which the kidneys fail to filter out. Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local. Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional. The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is widely an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all blood, and all blood ailments. The "Night Cure," as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, banishes local weakness and discharges, while the Restorative, opens narrow excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Night Cure or Local—use general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

DRAMATIC

Address Made to a Court by a Man Condemned to Die.

"Prisoner at the bar, have you anything to say why the sentence of death shall not be passed upon you?"

A solemn hush fell over the crowded court room, and every person waited in almost breathless expectation for the answer to the judge's question.

The judge still waited in dignified silence. Not a whisper was heard anywhere, and the situation had become painfully oppressive, when the prisoner was seen to move; his head was raised, his hands were clenched and the blood had rushed into his pale, care-worn face. His teeth were firmly set and into his eye came a flash of light.

Suddenly he rose to his feet and in a low, firm voice said: "I have your Honor, you have asked me a question, and I now ask it as the last favor on earth that you will not interrupt my answer until I am through."

"I stand here before the bar convicted of the wilful murder of my wife. Truthful witnesses have testified to the fact that I was a drunkard, a loafer and a wretch; that I returned from one of my prolonged debauches and fired the fatal shot that killed the wife I had sworn to love, cherish and protect."

"While I have no remembrance of committing the fearful, cowardly, inhuman deed, I have no right to complain or condemn the verdict of the twelve good men who have acted as a jury in the case, for the verdict is in accordance with the evidence."

"But, may it please the court, I wish to show that I am not alone responsible for the murder of my wife."

This startling statement created a tremendous sensation. The judge leaned over the desk. The lawyers wheeled around and faced the prisoner, the jurors looked at each other in amazement, while the spectators could hardly suppress their intense excitement. The prisoner paused for a few seconds and then continued in the same firm voice:

"I repeat your Honor that I am not the only one guilty of the murder of my wife. The judge on this bench the jury in this box, the lawyers in this bar, and most of the witnesses, are also guilty before Almighty God. His judgment throne, where we shall all be righteously judged."

"If 29 men conspire together for the murder of one person, the law of this land will arrest the 29, and each will be tried and executed for a whole murder, and not for one-twentieth of the crime."

"I have been made a drunkard by the law. If it had not been for the legalized saloons in my town I would never have become a drunkard; I would not be here now ready to be hurled into eternity."

"Had it not been for the human traps set out by the consent of the government I would have been a sober man, an industrious workman, a tender father and a loving husband. But today my home is destroyed, my wife murdered, my little children—God bless them—cast out upon the cold mercy of the world, while I am to be murdered by the strong arm of the State in which I live."

"God knows I tried to reform, but as long as the open saloon was in my pathway my weak, diseased will power was no match against the fearful consuming agonizing appetite for liquor. At last I sought the care and sympathy of the church of Jesus Christ."

"One year our town was without a saloon. For one year I was a sober man. For one year my wife and children were supremely happy and our home a perfect paradise."

"I was one of those who signed remonstrances against re-opening saloons in our town. The names of half the jury can today be found on that petition certifying to the good, moral character of the rum-sellers and falsely saying that the sale of liquor was necessary in our town. The prosecuting attorney in this case is the one that so eloquently pleaded with the court for the license, and the judge who sits on the bench, and asks me if I have anything to say before the sentence of death is passed on me, granted the license."

The impassioned words of the prisoner fell like coals of fire upon the hearts of those present and many of the spectators and some lawyers were moved to tears. The judge made a motion as if to stop any further speech on the part of the prisoner when the speaker hastily said:

No, no, your Honor, do not close my lips. They are the last words I shall utter on earth."

"I began my downward career at a saloon bar—legalized and protected by the Commonwealth—which receives annually a part of the blood money of the poor, deluded victims."

"After the State had made me a drunkard and a murderer, I am taken, before another bar, the bar of justice, by the same power of law that legalized the first bar, and now the law power will conduct me to the place of execution and hasten my soul into eternity. I shall appear before another bar—the judgment bar of God—and there, you who have legalized the traffic, will have to appear with me. Think you, that the Great Judge will hold me—the poor weak victim of your traffic—alone responsible for the murder of my wife. Nay, in my drunken frenzied irresponsible condition have murdered one, but you have murdered your thousands, and the murder mills are today in operation with your consent. All of you know in your hearts that these words of mine are not the ravings of an un-sound mind, but God Almighty's truth."

The liquor of this nation is responsible for nearly all the bloodsheds, murders, riots, poverty, misery, woe and wretchedness. It breaks up thousands of happy homes every year, sends the husbands and the fathers to the prisons and the gallows, and drives countless mothers and children out into the world to suffer and die. It furnishes nearly all of the criminal business in this and all other courts and blasts every community it touches."

This infernal traffic is legalized and protected by parties which you sustain by your ballot. And yet some of you have the audacity to say that you are in favor of prohibiting the traffic, while your vote goes to the ballot box with those of the rum-sellers and the worst elements of the land in favor of continuing the business. Every year you are given the opportunity of voting against this soul and body destroying business, and wash your hands of all responsibility for the fearful result of the liquor traffic; but instead, you inform the government by your votes that you are perfectly satisfied with the present condition of things, and that they shall continue. You legalize the saloons that made me a drunkard and a murderer, and you are guilty with me before God and man for the murder of my wife."

"Your Honor, I am done. I am now ready to receive my sentence and be led forth to the place of execution and murdered according to the laws of this State. I will close by asking the Lord to have mercy on my soul. I will close by solemnly asking God to open your blind eyes to the truth, to your own individual responsibility, so that you will cease to give your support to this hell-born traffic.—Beebe Times. Wm. Layne, June 28, 1897. (Published by request.)"

FROM FLORIDA

Another Letter From Our Friend John W. Jones.

Now if you will allow the space, I will give you a brief outline of what I observed while on a week's visit to Mrs. Amanda Rice Cutter, in Putnam county. They live on a lake called Mycee. It is perfectly clear and blue embracing an acre or more. I went to the store and bought some fishing tackle and concluded I would take a skiff and go around the lake and hook all the fish we could use. I tried this for three or four days, but I had fisherman's luck, (you know what that is) although on the last day I caught a pretty good sized soft-shell turtle. As he was pretty well hooked I toted him to the house on the hook, where I cleaned it and Mrs. Cutter cooked it, and we ate it and it was fine."

I took a stroll about two miles to where they have erected a distillery for the purpose of manufacturing turpentine and other naval stores. They have large engines and boilers and a very heavy machine with blades to it for the purpose of shaving the pine stumps and lumber into a pulp. This pulp is then conveyed into large iron or steel receptacles. The water in these is conveyed to a smaller one. I suppose a condenser. It went out into a still of 25 barrels capacity. The turpentine is then conveyed from the still in a large iron pipe to a large steel tank or cistern a short distance from the building and on a little more elevated ground. The tank looked to me as if it would hold 100 barrels or over. There I remained until it was ready to be drawn out into barrels. The naval stores are barreled and stacked out of the way. This plant is on the shore of lake Saratoga, of about 15 acres in area. There is a smaller one close by this one."

Well, the next thing is where they get the stumps and timber, this same company has secured a boundary of land of some 3,000 acres, I am told. They are having it cleaned off, grubbing up the stumps, for which they pay 25c, these stumps and timber are hauled to the distillery and used up. I saw more stumps at one sight than I ever saw in all my life and I am going on 74 years."

This used to be an orange growing section but there came a freeze several years ago and killed them all out and they have never been reset.

I failed to tell you while on the land question, that the same company that owns the distillery owns the land and that they are going to use it for a camphor plantation as soon as they get the land ready. I suppose that they will get their fruit stock to commence on. They have a nursery ready to commence planting the seed. When the trees get old enough they gather the leaves and haul them to this same distillery where they are distilled, as their turpentine stock will be exhausted by that time."

Well, I am about through, for I fear I have been a little too long-winded, but if you want to use it you can divide it up to suit yourself."

J. W. Jones.

OUR WEST VIRGINIA NEIGHORS.

Mrs. Floyd Nester died at East Moundville of consumption.

Sam Kinsler was taken from Wayne to the penitentiary at Moundville a few days ago to enter upon his service of two years for killing Davis Bartram.

Recent marriages at East Lynn are as follows:

James Adkins and Georgia Maynard Cleveland Adkins and Tennessee Nester, William Russell, Jr., and Chattle Brouder.

The little son of Rev. Mr. Fowble has the small pox. Upon the recovery of Mr. Fowble from the disease the quarantine was raised but is now again in force at the parsonage.—Wayne News.

There was a right serious fire at Elkinsburg Wednesday night, consuming the store building and stock belonging to Mattie M. Curry. The loss was total, but there was some insurance. It was lucky that several more buildings were not destroyed.

Eighty-four cases of small pox are reported in Wayne county. The number remains about the same, new cases developing about as fast as the patients are discharged. There have been no deaths and most of the cases are mild. The expense will be heavy on the county.

The many friends of Henderson Maynard in Williamson and vicinity were shocked to hear of his sudden death about 5 o'clock yesterday morning at his home on Logan street. For a year or more past, he had been in poor health, and had been away several times in attempts to improve his condition. He suffered from sudden attacks of heart failure, and it was during one of these that he passed away.—Williamson Enterprise.

In a Pullman coach at the local depot of the Norfolk and Western railroad, a baby was born to Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Williams, of Emory, Va. Tuesday afternoon at Bluefield. The engine whistled in honor of the new baby, and those about the depot were thrown into a state of turmoil at the news. Mr. George R. Vaughan of that city, a grandfather of the infant Fred Williams holds a chair at Emory and Henry College.—Bluefield Leader.

Charley Hale brought Dick Bingham a negro, before Squire H. F. Bowen Thursday on a warrant charging him with attempting to burglarize the home of Wm. Snodgrass at Iverson. There were three burglars who entered the Snodgrass home and were fired upon by him. The negro was struck on the side of the head with a load, inflicting a wound that would have crushed any but the hardest skulls. Mr. Hale traced the wounded man to Huntington and captured him but has been unable, as yet, to locate the other two. The prisoner waived examination and was committed to jail in default of bond, to await the action of the grand jury.—Wayne News.

Considerable progress has been made in the big pile of business before the Circuit Court this week. The grand jury brought in 29 indictments on the last day of service.

Ed Huff, the assailant of C. E. Tabor at Chatteroy last fall received four months at Moundville. There were a number of indictments against Huff, all for serious offenses. John Trent who beat up two old people below town the other day, was sentenced to two years in the pen. Adrian Stepp charged with the unlawful shooting of Tom Harris at Chatteroy was found not guilty. Bud Wolford, who figured in the Reed case at Thacker last summer was found guilty and was given two years. A sad feature of this case is the fact that Wolford has a young wife and a child only a few days old.—Williamson Enterprise.

John B. Harris, the youth who was reported missing from his home several weeks ago at East Williamson was found dead in the waters of Pigeon creek, Saturday, near the home of P. S. Johnson.

Harris left home about a month ago and secured work from Stewart, a farmer on Pigeon creek. On day the news reached this city that he had committed suicide by drowning himself in Pigeon creek. This report has since been denied. He was subject to epileptic fits, and when they would come on him he would fall to the ground in an unconscious condition.

It is supposed that he was attacked by one of these fits while crossing the creek and was washed down to the point where the body was found. His body probably lay in Pigeon creek three weeks, judging from the account given by Stewart White, who stated that Harris only worked a week and that three weeks ago he started for his home at Williamson.—Mingo Republican.

ELK CITY, OKLAHOMA.

Hello! Kentuckians, and especially Big Sandians. Tuesday morning, Jan. 7, 1908, found your scribe leaving Kentucky for a western home. After traveling for three days and two nights we reached our destination, which happened to be Elk City, Okla. The first view I had of the prairies was in Western Illinois, just at daybreak.

I thought that was a beautiful sight but when I reached Elk City I gave up that I had ever before seen such a beautiful scene real or imaginative.

When the train rolled into Elk City it was five o'clock p. m. and being met there by an uncle we went to his home, five miles north of the city, where we found our kinsmen and plenty of palatable food and it would have been hard to decide which we were proudest to see. You who have traveled know something of this.

It has always been said that when any "new comers" reached Oklahoma she always gave them a reception. Our reception was all that could have been desired—in its line. For the next three days after our arrival the wind blew at break neck speed and the sand filled our mouths to overflowing. I have been here six weeks and there has only been two days the wind has not blown. One day it blows from the north and the next from the south.

On Feb. 14 the worst snow storm ever seen on the plains of America and your scribe had learned in Kentucky what a snow storm meant; rushed by piling snow ten feet deep. It was impossible to open a door or see out of a window, the air looked as if there had been milk poured from heaven. Thus the snow storm raged till three o'clock that evening. Then the sun was shining and the water was dripping from the eaves. We thought we would avail ourselves of that opportunity and get us some water, coal and other necessary things, but when we stepped out the wind would hurl snow in our faces until we were glad to grab a bucket of snow and run indoors. We drank snow water that night. In a few days it was gone and nice, warm weather prevailing, we soon forgot the pest and hoped that we would have no more snow storms. The storm was much worse in Texas than here.

The greatest object of interest to the Kentuckian is the cotton fields. Most of the cotton has been picked and sold, but what there is worth 12c per pound. Oklahoma's money lies in her cotton crops. Although most anything will grow, especially vines. People say that water melons grow so large a man can hardly carry them, and that the vines grow so fast that the leaves and melons would be knocked off if the clouds and weeds were not kept out of the way. How true this is I can't say. They are not bothered with rocks, the largest I have seen was about the size of a gallon cup. Then too, cotton picking is $1 per hundred pounds and there are several people around here who can pick 700 pounds per day. Can any man working by the day in Kentucky beat that?

Looking south we can see the Wichita Mountains 35 miles away, looks like a Kentucky smokehouse. The second morning after my arrival as I was crossing the field, something jumped up and went bounding away. I wondered where that mule could have been that I had not seen it before, but my cousin seeing that I was perplexed, informed me that it was a jack rabbit. There are several coyotes around here, you can hear them most any night, but there are no large wild animals.

I would say to all Kentuckians who ever dreamed of coming out west, you may expect two things, viz: first for the wind to blow, and second, to work. Money is easily earned, but everything, groceries, dry goods, and farming tools, etc., are all very high. The farmers are getting ready to plant the spring crops, which will be mostly corn, oats, alfalfa, cotton, watermelons and vegetables.

Elk City is a beautiful little town of 2,000 inhabitants, has four cotton gins, two flour mills, a steam laundry and all the modern improvements.

I want the BIG SANDY NEWS sent to me, I feel like I had lost a very dear friend since I have been without it. My father has been a subscriber to it ever since I can remember and I want the goodwork to continue.

As I have nothing else of interest to write I will close for this time but may come again in the near future.

Oh, yes, I forgot to tell you that we had to run to the cellar or dug-out the other night. About 12 o'clock it began to hail and the wind puffing like an engine, awoke us and by one we were sitting in the cellar wrapped in quilts, expecting to hear the house blow away. These cellars or dug-outs are dug in the ground just outside the back door and are covered with plank and then dirt put on that, and when you see a "twister" coming you have to twist into the cellar and stay awhile. We remained there only about an hour.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain—not only once, but as many times as it is necessary to take them. Many persons who suffer from chronic ailments find in them a source of great relief from the suffering which they would otherwise be compelled to endure. Their soothing influence upon the nerves strengthen rather than weaken them. For this reason they seldom lose their effectiveness.

The Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills have been a blessing to me. I don't know what I could do without them, and they are the only remedy I have ever used that either did not wear out in less time than I have been taking them, or else the favorable results were such that I would be obliged to cease their use."

OUR NEIGHBORS.

Wm. Artrip, C. & O. engineer, who was held for manslaughter because his engine killed an aged man named Banks at Prestonsburg, has been discharged by the court.

Jery A. Hughes died at Ashland a few days ago at the age of 43 years. His eldest son, age eighteen, died only two weeks previous of pneumonia.

Jef Newberry, the well known wholesale shoe dealer of the Newberry Shoe Company, was removed from his home on Fifth avenue yesterday to the Huntington Hospital, where he underwent an operation today for a serious affliction that has bothered him for some time. Mr. Newberry's many friends in the city will regret to hear of his illness.—Huntington Herald.

Mrs. Mary Jane Martin, wife of Dr. J. W. Martin, died at her home 223 East Winchester Avenue, last night, after a brief illness of pneumonia. Mrs. Martin had been an invalid for several years, and during all that time, had been cared for as tenderly by her devoted family as though she were a child.

The deceased was born in Floyd county, February 27, 1828. She was the daughter of Gen. Daniel Hager, this being one of the most prominent families in the Big Sandy valley. She was united in marriage to Dr. J. W. Martin, at Paintsville, in April, 1857.

George W. Calvin, the well known merchant, farmer and stockdealer, of Cannonsburg, has just returned from Chicago, where he purchased 11 car loads of cattle, which are being brought to Boyd county, to be grazed on the lands of our farmers. Two or three car loads have already arrived and have been driven to the country, and the others will be here within a day or so. Mr. Calvin is engaging this season more extensively in the live stock business than ever before, and has splendid prospects of realizing handsomely from his enterprise. He is one of the pushing, hustling citizens of our county.—Cattletown Tribune.

Frankfort, Ky., March 12.—Frank Horn, Deputy United States Marshal who killed Irvin Short, an alleged moonshiner, in Knott county in June 1905, was acquitted last week in the Federal Court here. The defense, feeling that the prosecution had failed to make a strong case, took only the testimony of the defendant. Horn said that he went to Short's place to arrest him for moonshining and Short started to run to the house. He said that he believed that Short was running to the house to get arms to kill him and fired, intending only to cripple Short, but the wound proved fatal.

Thirty-two prisoners, mostly boys were sentenced to thirty days in jail and fined $100 for retailing liquor without license in Eastern Kentucky. Mrs. Nettie Riser, of Magoffin county, the only woman "shiner" at this court, was dismissed and permitted to return to her habitation.

The U. S. Engineers who prepared the reports and maps relative to the proposed lock and dam system in the Ohio river, forgot to put Ironton on the map showing the territory commercially benefited by the reliable navigation of the Ohio. This is rather surprising, since Ironton has the heaviest tonnage of any city on the Ohio river between Wheeling and Cincinnati, and is supposed to be located at or near the site of one of the proposed locks and dams. Ashland and Catlettsburg are also missing, and said old Gallipolis also gets the go-by; but the thriving metropolis of Greensburg and Vanceburg, with its teeming population of several hundreds, is given a place. Huntington and Portsmouth are also represented. But then, what is commercial importance or a city's reputation for persistent aid in helping along the On-to-Cairo movement, compared with the fact that Greensburg is the home of a Congressman? It is a very little thing, perhaps, but very little extra effort would have been required to place on this map showing "territory commercially benefited," the most thickly populated area west of Wheeling—Ironton, Ashland, Catlettsburg and their environs—as is done in the lock plans in the same report—Ironton Irontonian.

Mary Johnson and Nannie Burke were candidates for the City, Fifth ward, for office, and Representative at-large, in the Tenth District, the appointing power, was at a loss to decide to which he would give the plum. In looking over the card Mr. Langley reached the conclusion that something should be done for each of the deserving young ladies. The idea struck him.

that in order to do this a new post-office should be established. The Postmaster General agreed with him and a new office, Long Fork, has been established, to which Miss Burk will be appointed, while Miss Johnson will hand out letters at Eddy, Ky.

Rev. John H. Williams died at Inez Wednesday after a brief illness. He was 86 years old.

Frankfort, Ky.—Ben Carey sent to the penitentiary from Boyd county, to serve seven years for manslaughter, worked a clever ruse to make his escape, but enjoyed but a brief spell of liberty, being captured by Guards Pythian and Mudd within a very short time after he had gotten away from duration vile.

Carey had laid his plans well for his break for freedom. When he with several other convicts was taken out side of the prison walls to the rear stockade to get some packages from the outside shoe factory, he lost no time in seizing the first available opportunity to get away. It is said he managed to elude the keen eye of the guard a short time, and when missed shortly afterward could not be accounted for. A quick search of the premises and surrounding county, is said to have disclosed the fact that a man with a white shirt on, was going over the F. C. trestle far up on the Normal hill. The man was making tracks towards Georgetown, and the officers were practically certain that the white-shirted man was Carey.

Telephones were quickly put to work and scouring parties sent out. Believing that he would continue on towards the forks of Elkhorn and Seltzer, Guards Mudd and Pythian got in a buggy and hurried toward that point. When near that point they learned that a man had been seen trudging ahead, in the pike, wearing a peculiar kind of trousers and with out a coat. They quickly overhauled the man described, and found that he was Carey. The convict threw up his hands when two guns were leveled at him and agreed to go back to prison.

With a view of concealing the fact that he was a convict, Carey had most ingeniously, considering the materials at hand, cut a pair of trousers out of his blanket. He admitted that he had laid his striped trousers down on the blanket and with a small knife cut out the pattern and then with such needles and thread as he had, sewed them up and donned them under his stripes, to await the first opportunity for escape. This came and he slipped off his striped breeches and coat and made off, wearing only the blanket trousers. He hid the stripes under a near-by lumber pile.

Carey was paroled out of prison some time ago, but violated its provisions by getting drunk and was brought back last October.

I could not enjoy my meals, and could not sleep at night. I had heavy, dark circles about the eyes. "My friends were much alarmed. I was advised to give Peruna a trial, and to my joy I began to improve with the first bottle. After taking six bottles I felt completely cured. I cannot say too much for Peruna as a medicine for women in a run-down condition."
